Meet Them At The Door

Meet Them at the Door is when someone meets a prisoner at a prison door when they are released back to society. When this happens, the former prisoner becomes a returning citizen. At Get Free and Stay Free, we call these folks Service Providers. A Service Provider can be a private citizen or be affiliated with an organization. Please share a little bit about who you are:

My name is Elvin Freeman. I spent 24 years in prison until I was released in 2012. I was blessed to have been picked up and mentored by a man named Pastor Paul. I will be forever grateful for Pastor Paul and am willing to pay it forward.

Please explain your criteria for meeting prisoners at the door:

I can meet any incarcerated male when they are released from jail or prison within a 45-mile radius of my area, which is Lebanon, Pennsylvania. I will be glad to pick up and help someone when they are released. Please let me know a few months in advance.

How should the incarcerated person or their representative contact you?
